

ANL/NDM-152

Technical note on:-

DISPERSION CONTRIBUTIONS TO NEUTRON REACTIONS

by

R.D. Lawson and A.B. Smith

ABSTRACT

An approach used to calculate the surface- and volume-imaginary potential strengths is presented. It is shown that surface dispersive effects in neutron-induced reactions at lower energies (e.g., < 30 MeV) have a substantive impact on the process. The volume contribution due to dispersive effects is also calculated.